EDITORIAL

HIS ELEVENTH YEAR

The eleventh anniversary of the pastorate of the Rev. W. M. Thompson at the local Liberty Bapt ist church, calls for special comment. Our community has been fortunate indeed to have had in its midst through the turbulent era of the past decade, one whose influence has been so outstanding for truth and right. We congratulate the congregation, on this another anniversary.

THEY WERE RIGHT

With attendance materially cut, due to the inability of the buses to travel roads, local school authorities were exactly right in giving a short school holiday this week to the students. Man always must adjust himself to nature.

NOT NEW AT ALL

It seems that the issue at stake in the Supreme Court's decision on the TVA was whether or not the government could go into direct competition with private business.

That's not new at all. For years the government post office department has been in direct (and very unfair) competition with the printing industry in printing envelopes.

The printers just haven't fought ar loudly as the power companies.

THE DENTISTS BILL AGAIN

At every session of the legislature, two types of bills crop up: those introduced by members who somehow feel that they haven't earned their salary unless they get their name in the papers as sponsor of a bill or two; and bills introduced for the sole benefit of organized minorities.

In the second group goes the so called dentist bill now before the state senate. It seeks to prohibit a dentist from using a newspaper for advertising his items and prices.

Apparantly it is all right to use the radio, personal letters or direct mail, billboards, handbills and circulars, sign board, sandwich sign or program advertising. Is the bill a cleverly worded admission that newspaper advertising is the only advertising that gets results?

We have never carried dentist's advertising. It doesn't mean a thin dime to us whether the bill passes or not. We are only concerned with the principle involved.

We understand that sentiment for the bill has been aroused by its clever lobbyists by hashing up a yarn about a poor widow who got a cancer of the gum from a set of teeth that didn't fit, and that she went to that particular dentist because she saw his notice in a newspaper. Oh boy. We knew a fellow once who got a cancer of the lip from smoking; why not a law forbidding smoking in the enlightened state of Virginia? We also have heard of a lady who was made to pay $145 for one tooth. That dentist ought to be boiled in oil.

We think this bill the excrement of an entrenched pontificate and has no place before an intelligent legislature. We challenge anyone to show that the evils of quacks who dupe innocent clients into their offices through misleading or fraudulent advertising cannot be prosecuted under existing law, and if convicted barred from practice.

We challenge anyone to show that the bill in question will do the things its backers claim.

For heavens sake, why set a dangerous precedent merely in order to peg the smug prices of an entrenched few, while millions suffer the slow death of poisons from bad teeth because they can't afford exhorbitent costs. We ask you, on which side do human rights repose? We ask you, why not stop giving licenses to quacks? We ask you, why draw the state into the greed of a few as against the need of the many!

WE ENDORSE THIS

Thanks to one of our Spout Spring readers for sending in the following:

"A Wisconsin editor speaks: "It is reported that one of the fastidious newly married ladies of this community kneads bread with rubber gloves on. This incident may be somewhat peculiar but there are others. The editor of this paper needs bread with his shoes on; he needs bread with his shirt on; he needs bread with his pants on; and unless some delinquent subscribers cough up before long, he will need bread without a darn thing on, and Wisconsin is no Garden of Eden in the winter time."

Of course, the editor of the Times Virginian adds a merry "O K" to "them that" sentiments.

Boatwright Explains Stand On Bills Before Assembly

Editor Times Virginian,
Dear Sir,

I have been petitioned by a number of citizens of Appomattox county to support certain matters before the Legislature at this session.

I wish to say to the people of the county that I am not only personally dry, but I am heartily in accord with any measures which will promote temperance. I have voted in favor of the bill to prohibit the sale of wine and beer on Sunday, which is the only temperance measure which has thus far come before the house, and it is my intention to vote for any and all measures which will, in my opinion, promote the cause of temperance.

I have voted against the Edwards bill to legalize certain Sunday exhibitions and sports of a commercialized nature; I have voted to outlaw slot machines and I expect to vote against the Race Track—Gambling Bill when it comes up for passage.

I take this means of communicating with the signers of the petition on account of the number and the fact that some of them failed to give their address.

Respectfully,
John B. Boatwright

Lathan Harvey Is Winner In Contest

Lathan Harvey, 4H club member of the Oakville club, was honor guest at the Virginia Crop Improvement Association annual banquet at the Warren Green hotel in Warrenton, on January 30. He received the recipient of a handsome Elgin watch, awarded to him by the Barret Company for achieving the most outstanding results by the use of nitrate of soda on corn.

Lathan was declared the county winner on the basis of having the largest net profit per acre from the use of nitrate of soda on his corn project. He choose two plats of land of equal fertility adjoining each other. On one he applied nitrate of soda, on the other none. From the plat on which soda was used he obtained an increase in his corn yield of 142 per cent and his profit per acre of 342 per cent.

Much interest was manifested in Lathan's corn demonstration. The results were exceptionally good and many neighboring farmers commented on the tremendous difference in size, color and yield of his plat on which soda was used over that corn on which no soda was apparent. Lathan has entered this contest twice. The first year his crop was almost a failure due to adverse weather conditions.

Lathan's corn not only won the county prize in the 4H Club contest but also won honors at fairs. His exhibit placed fifth at the state fair and won first at Petersburg and Lynchburg.

Lathan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lytton Harvey, of Oakville. He has been one of the outstanding club members at Oakville since he began 4H club work. He has served as president, vice president and secretary, treasurer of the Oakville club and is one of the most active club members in the county. His good work though is not confined to his club activities, as he has an excellent record as a leader and student in school affairs.

Lathan, in company with Howard Jordon, of Campbell, and Nelson Hamlett of Prince Edward, winners in the contest, drove to Warrenton with J. B. Farrar, club agent. They attended the state corn and grain show where they saw many very fine exhibits of corn, small grains and truck products. After the banquet they drove to Washington, and the next day spent many hours in the Smithsonian Institute and sight seeing around the capitol. They returned home January 31.

Last year Coleman Moore, of Oakville, won the state prize in the contest and receiving a beautiful watch from the Barrett Co. He and his father, Clarence Moore were given a trip to Hopewell by the Barrett Company, where they attended the grain show and the 1934 banquet of the Virginia Crop Improvement Association.

The other contestants who completed the contest this year, were: Coleman Moore, Chandler Moore and Russell Moore, of Oakville; Beverly Martin, G. C. Martin and Lonnie Reynolds, of Liberty Chapel; and Randolph and Powell Caldwell, of Appomattox.
